Walmart Assessment- Product Finder Website

Sravya Mandadi

Product Description: This project is an imitation of an e-commerce website using Spring Boot Application. The home page consists of a search box to type a key word in, and if this key word is defined, it will display product details that are related to the keyword. The details that are being displayed related to the product include ID #, brand, product description, and price. If the keyword is not found, then it returns a no results page. All pages have the search bar included and are all linked together.

How to Run:

1. Unzip the contents of the file.
2. Open the contents in an IDE as a project.
3. Build the project and run.
 - a. If run isn't an option on the IDE please use the following command on the terminal:
`./mvnw clean spring-boot:run`
4. Open a tab on your internet browser and type `http://localhost:8083/home`

Technologies Used:

- I've started the project without the Spring Boot Application, and had manually used HTTPS GET methods to retrieve data from the JSP file.
- I then implemented the Spring Boot methodology, which cut down the code by 40%.
- The Model and the Controller are Java Servlets and the view is a JSP file.

Functionality:

- On opening the home tab, can see that there is a search bar on the top to enter the search word.
- There are also other components to improve the UI of the page.
- This includes
 - Navigation Bar
 - Header
 - Footer
 - 2 columns- .side and .main
- In the search bar you can see the default text-What are you looking for?
- Here, type the product you are looking for.
- For the scope of this project, I have defined 3 products
 - Bag
 - Perfume
 - Lipstick
- If you type any other search word apart from this, then it will display a no results page where you are prompted to enter another product.
- On pressing the submit button, the next page displays the product results.
- You can also directly search on this page directly since the search bar is included.

Features of this website:

- Takes the input of a search word in the search bar.

- Displays the items that are relevant to the product name and also its recommendations.
- The recommendations are static in nature.
- If the search word is not found in the list, then it will display a no-results page.
